HK Express Celebrates “All Clear” for South Korea with 20% Off Promo Code!

Hong Kong, 1 August 2015 HK Express, Hong Kong's number one on-time and low-fare airline, send its warmest wishes to the people of South Korea in reaching the end of the Middle East Respiratory Syndrome (MERS) crisis. To celebrate the “All Clear” for the country, the airline is giving out a promo code for Guests travelling to Korea, just in time for the summer peak!

During the outbreak of MERS in Korea, HK Express had reduced the number of weekly flights from 28 to 17, aligning with government advice to limit leisure travel to the country. With the travel alert lifted, the airline will start ramping up its flights again, and is now gearing itself up for the launch of a new flight to Jeju, commencing 1 September.

To encourage Hong Kong people to revisit the charm, energy and shopping mecca of South Korea, a 20% promo code (GOKR20) for travelling to both Seoul and Busan will be available for online bookings made between 4 and 10 August 2015 via HK Express, with travel period valid until 30 June 2016.

Andrew Cowen, CEO of HK Express said, “With the announcement from the Hong Kong government that the Red Outbound Travel Alert on South Korea is now lifted, we wish the country a speedy return to normal operations and hope our caring Guests and fans will support the hard-hit tourist spots with visits of love and joy!”

Cowen continued, “The MERS All Clear comes just in time for Hongkongers to grab a last minute summer break for the hottest new HK Express destination, Jeju! Our new thrice weekly service is sure to be a hit to this popular resort island!”
